Dear Former TWA or Ozark Employee:

TWA Retirement Plans or Defined Benefits Plans

TWA employees who left TWA after November 1992 the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (PBGC) will continue to be responsible for the TWA defined benefit plans, as they have been since January 2, 2001. The money you have in your TWA pension plan is protected to the extent provided by law. In December 2000, the Pichin Corporation announced that it would terminate the TWA Pension Plans, effective January 1, 2001. As a result, these plans became the responsibility of the PBGC, a federal government agency that insures and protects defined benefit plans, which promise to pay a specific monthly benefit at retirement.
